INTRODUCING THE HEALTHY FAMILIES ACT

(Mr. DICKS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DICKS. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing the Healthy Families Act, a bill to help prevent child abuse. A 1994 survey of child welfare agencies reported more than 3 million cases of child abuse. Three children a day died.

My bill will make Justice Department funding available for local programs following the principles of the healthy families initiative, a pioneering child abuse prevention program. Communities adopting the healthy families model use their existing social service network to provide voluntary, culturally appropriate, intensive in-home visits to new mothers and their families by professional counselors to teach them how to avoid child abuse. The counseling which healthy families provides those families who want help with the training and discipline needed to prevent child abuse are important for our children.

Because of the success of this program in Hawaii, Mr. Speaker, the healthy families approach has been adopted by communities across the country. Earlier this year I visited a program site in the Washington State district, which I represent. The effort to prevent child abuse that I saw during my visit encouraged me to introduce this legislation.

A BRIGHTER FUTURE FOR WELFARE RECIPIENTS IN THE REPUBLICAN PLAN FOR WELFARE REFORM

(Mr. EWING asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, the Republican plan for welfare reform has five pillars: Welfare reform should not be a way of life; we should have work, not welfare; we should not pay welfare to noncitizens and felons; we should return power and money to the States; and we should restore personal responsibility.

Unfortunately, the President's plan has no time limit as far as how long you can get welfare, no real work requirement. It continues to pay noncitizens and felons, and it has maximum Federal control, not States' rights.

Mr. Speaker, what we need to do is be concerned about the welfare recipient.

Pass a good welfare reform bill that restores respect, increases initiative, and provides a brighter future for welfare recipients.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESCRIPTION FOR CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM: MORE MONEY, MORE MONEY, MORE MONEY

(Mr. RICHARDSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, with its candidate for President on the ropes, the Republican majority is trying to find another divisive wedge issue. Last week it was same-sex marriage. This week it is welfare. Next week it will probably be abortion. There are rumors that the Republican majority is about to abandon a bipartisan welfare reform. Is this indicative of a new strategy to resurrect the Willy Horton issues?

Mr. Speaker, let us talk about the Republican prescription for campaign finance reform: more money, more money, and more money. They see the control that they have of the Congress in jeopardy, and want their special interest buddies to rescue them. I cannot wait to hear what is next.

ENOUGH DOUBLETALK FROM THE PRESIDENT—WELFARE REFORM IS NEEDED NOW

(Mr. KNOLLENBERG asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KNOLLENBERG. Mr. Speaker, just this week, and in connection with what the previous speaker was talking about, where are we on this whole thing, where really is the President on all of this? He changed his mind about welfare again. He said in a speech to the Nation's Governors just 2 days ago that he is going to sign welfare reform. He also said he is committed to supporting Wisconsin's welfare reform plan. I can hear the White House spinmeisters now spinning their wheels and saying, "how do we explain this to the public?"

Who knows where the President is? Maybe he will sign the very same welfare reform he has vetoed twice. Perhaps he will okay Wisconsin's welfare waiver. Who knows?

My Democrat friends in the Congress have said if you do not like where the President stands, just wait a while. Enough of the doubletalk, I would say. Enough of the flips. It is time the President lived up to the 1992 promise to change welfare as we know it.

Our current welfare system has failed miserably over the last 30 years. It is time to get under the hood and fix the problem.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN FINANCE BILL WILL BRING MASSIVE INFUSION OF MONEY TO FINANCE MEMBERS' CAMPAIGNS

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I am outraged that tomorrow the Republican leadership is going to bring up a campaign finance bill that will essentially allow a massive infusion of money from wealthy individuals and special interests to finance our congressional campaigns.

Speaker GINGRICH has said over and over again that there should be more money in politics, not less. He is quoted as saying that one of the greatest myths of modern politics is that "Campaigns are too expensive. The political process in fact is underfunded. It is not overfunded. I would emphasize far more money in the political process."

That is where we are. Under the guise of campaign finance reform, we are going to get a bill that allows the wealthy and the special interests to contribute even more. The public interest groups unanimously have come out opposed to this campaign finance bill tomorrow. The New York Times today says it is obscene, essentially, in their editorial.

Even my fellow Republicans, rational in some cases, have come forward with a Dear Colleague letter they sent to their other Republican colleagues saying this is a travesty, and that this campaign finance bill should not pass.

I hope we listen to that on both sides of the aisle.

HYPOCRITICAL CRITICISM OF SPEAKER GINGRICH BY THE WHITE HOUSE AND DEMOCRATS

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I want to read something. President Clinton and Vice President GORE said this in their book, "Putting People First": "We will scrap the Health Care Financing Administration and replace it with a health standard board made up of consumers, providers, business, labor, and government." No cry from the press about that.

But let us see what the Speaker is being criticized for when he talked about "wither on the vine." This is what he really said. The Democrats have taken it out of context. What did he say? "Okay, what do you think the Health Care Financing Administration is? It is a centralized bureaucracy. It's everything we are telling Boris Yeltsin to get rid of. Now, we don't want to get rid of it in round one * * * we want it to wither on the vine."

Speaker GINGRICH was not referring to the Medicare Program, but he was referring to the big government bureaucratic machine that processes it.
